Dear Professor

First thank you for coming to our aid when we arrived in Side in search of Jean Friendly's house.

We have had a wonderful time here and have fallen in love with Side. What an impressive city it is. We must now join the Friends of Side.

As an artist I have found so much to draw & paint and both my wife & myself intend to return as soon as we can. This has been our first visit to Turkey & we take back to England rich & happy memories. Only one sad thing has happened & that is that the little book in which I record our travels was foolishly left by me in the theatre — (what a magnificent place that is) The book is illustrated with little drawings, half of it records our trip to Turkey

& the other half a trip with the Prince of Wales to Italy,
& I would dearly love to get it back.

I would gladly pay a reward of £50 sterling.

But this is entirely my own careless fault but when one is enthusiastic one is often absent minded.

I do hope that we shall meet again one day.

With all good wishes
Yours sincerely
John Ward.
