

Conversations -

Something worth while to talk of. Why do so many families quarrel at meal time, around the table? Because they have nothing better to talk of & to divert their minds.

Suppose table-talk is planned. Let it be understood that every member of the family shall take his turn in telling what he has been reading, or in describing some event of importance taking place.

Banish gossip, curiosity, tale-bearing. Cultivate thinking & talking about worth while things.

Some people always give you the impression that they think you are slighting them. They have a dreadful self-consciousness which is very easily wounded

Every one needs to be interested in things outside of himself & outside of his own immediate surroundings.
Be reaching out & reaching up all the time -
avoid pettiness -
