What makes a home?

Father, Mother, children & an abode -

The dwelling may be big or little -

There may be a grand dwelling but no home in it.

A home must have an atmosphere of love & confidence -

All share in the responsibilities & the tasks -

It is hard to make a home in an abode of luxury where servants do everything & children have no responsibility -

The best homes are often found in the homes of the poor or of those who have only moderate means, where all feel bound to contribute something to the home, to take some part in the tasks of the family.

Tasks of the kitchen, dining room, sweeping, dusting - making beds - of the garden, digging, weeding, gathering fruits & vegetables - of the stable, care of horses, cows, hens, pigs
