

ers' earnings according to ional qualifications and the economic factors ecting teachers' pay over the next decade.

It concludes with a policy for the Seventies, discussing how future increases should be distributed and what should be the salary pattern over the next ten years.

The TES seeks to cover and assess everything that is of interest to the teaching profession today. And as the most widely read teaching journal in the country, stands as a forum for the expression of all views on education at home and abroad.

So, get your copy tomorrow, price 1s, and put in a regular order with your newsagent.

The Times Educational Supplement

THE KREMLIN SEES IT EVERY WEEK.
HOW ABOUT YOU?

THE ILLUSTRATED
LONDON
NEWS

old philosophy of the tended to life imprisonment, told the tribunal that he envisaged an ideal society of the future in which governments would be unnecessary and decisions would be taken by "committees of the people".

Turkey acts over gold treasure

By PETER HOPKIRK

The Turkish Government is to ask the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, Massachusetts, for all available information about the mysterious royal gold treasure which the museum recently bought in New York for a reported "six figure sum", and put on show to the public yesterday.
The Turkish Ministry of Education hopes to establish whether the treasure originally came from Turkey or from some other Eastern Mediterranean country.

If the team of Turkish experts entrusted with the task decides that the hoard is from Turkey, then the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Ankara intends to contest ownership.

Already, after studying photographs of the treasure, archaeologists in Britain are divided over its origin. Some say categorically that it is from Turkey, while others say it could come from other countries in the area.

Boğaziçi Üniversitesi

Arşiv ve Dokümantasyon Merkezi

Jale İnan Arşivi

JALARC0700203